

"NOT GUILTY," SAY THE JURY

YOUNG KRULICH ACQUITTED OF THE HATCHET MURDER.

AFTER IN COURT—Judge Gildersleeve Does Not Find the Defendant Guilty of the Murder of a Woman. The Jury Stood Six for Conviction at First, but Concluded There Were Doubts About the Evidence.

Young William Krulich was acquitted last night of murdering Dr. George Gildersleeve. The jury, after a long deliberation, returned a verdict of "not guilty." The case had been on for several days, and the evidence was conflicting. The jury was divided 6-6 on the first day, but eventually reached a unanimous verdict.

The jury was composed of twelve men, and the case was heard in the Court of Sessions. Judge Gildersleeve presided over the trial. The defense argued that the evidence was insufficient to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. The prosecution argued that the evidence was sufficient.

The jury was deliberated for several hours. They were told to return a verdict by the next morning. The case was a major event in the city, and many people gathered outside the court to watch the proceedings.
